ARROW

Arrow points you to your

cofounder.
investor.
next hire.
future wife.

Marco · Sun · Scott · Nelson

THE PROBLEM

You came for one person. You spent the night on everyone else.

Introduce yourself. Small talk. Realize it's not them. Excuse yourself. Repeat.

THE TIME WE GIVE BACK

8 years of small talk, handed back to SF Tech Week.

Today

60 min

6 conversations × ~10 min before you reach the one you came for

−

With Arrow

5 min

skip the 6. Arrow walks you straight to the one

=

Saved

55 min

per guest, per event

55 min × 50 guests × 1,500 in-person events at SF Tech Week = 69,000 hours

MEET ARROW

The one person you should meet, and an arrow to them.

No forms. Tell Arrow what you need in one short call.

Only mutual matches. They want to meet you too.

Find them in the room. Your phone guides you there.

Call. Match. Meet.

01 Call

Pick up the phone.

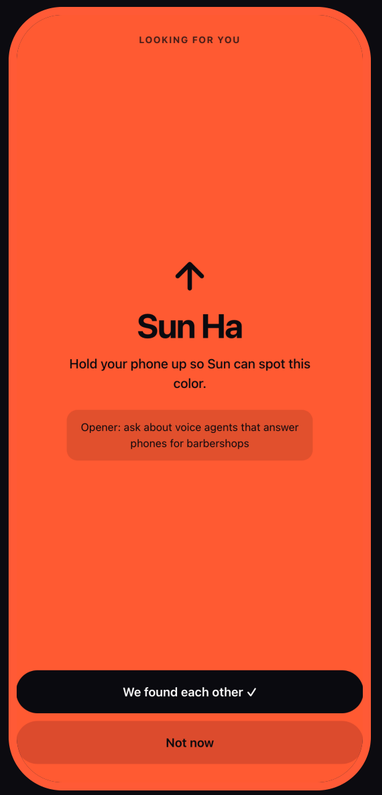

An AI voice asks what you're working on and who you want to meet. That's your profile.

02 Match

One person, not a list.

Arrow picks someone in the room who wants to meet you too, and texts you why.

03 Meet

Follow the arrow.

Phones sense each other over Bluetooth and light up the same color. Say your word, and you've found each other.

THE MARKET

Every room where someone came to meet someone.

1.65B

people at business events in 2025. Conferences, summits and meetups in 180+ countries.

950M

are there mainly to network. 58% say it's their #1 reason to go.

$2.9B

a year if each networker keeps their notes for $3 an event. From SF Tech Week's 1,593 events to Grace Hopper's 20,000 attendees.

Sources: Events Industry Council & Oxford Economics, Global Economic Significance of Business Events (2026) · Freeman, 2025 event trends report · tech-week.com · AnitaB.org. $3 per person per event is our planned price for meeting notes.

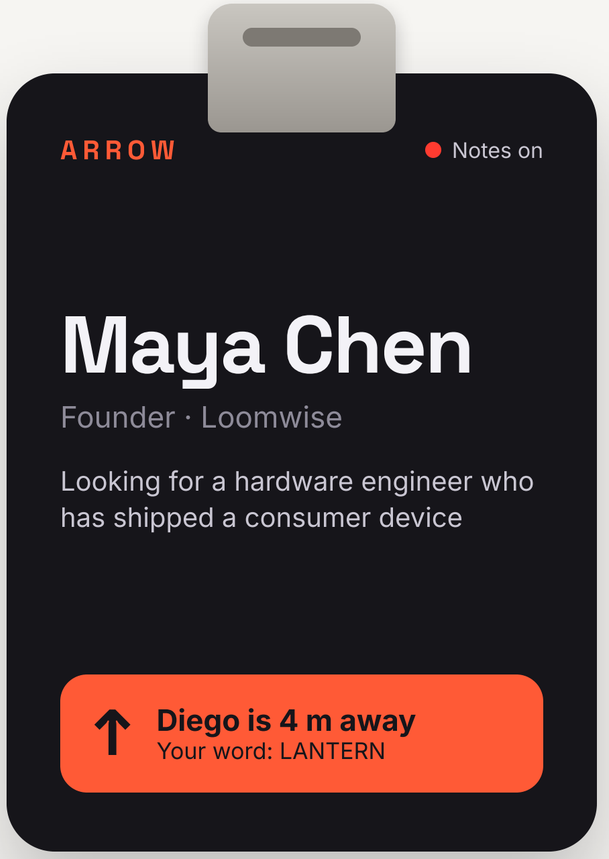

OUR VISION

A clip-on name tag that finds people for you.

Glows when your match is near. No phone out. You spot each other across the room.

Takes the notes. On-device recording, with both people's OK, turns every meeting into notes.

Remembers who mattered. Every conversation worth having, saved and ready to follow up.

$3 notes

Keep the notes from every meeting: $3 per person, per event.

Clip on

Pick one up at the door for a deposit. Return it, get it back.

Keep it

Buy the tag and wear it to every event you go to.

LIVE DEMO

Let’s find someone.

Built with Dial · Marco · Sun · Scott · Nelson